COVID-19 Update A Message from Our CEO

Dear H.A.S. Community,

Our thoughts today are with the millions of people worldwide affected by COVID-19. We share their concerns and send them our heartfelt prayers.

Here at H.A.S., we have always taken the responsibility to protect the well-being of our participants and staff, and today is no different. We, along with local and national public health officials, are closely monitoring the COVID-19 outbreak. Our dedicated team has put together several emergency plans that serve in the best interest of our community and address the complex issues we face at this time. These plans are based on guidelines set forth by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), as well as state health officials. Our team will continue to meet and assess the situation as new information becomes available, recommend appropriate action, and communicate change accordingly.

We understand that for our participants, this can be an exceptionally challenging time. While our doors remain open, we have established safeguards to help stop further spread of the virus. For now, all in person groups are cancelled until further notice. However, we will continue to provide critical support by implementing telehealth services and online group sessions. Our staff has been personally reaching out to individual participants with information regarding changes to ensure that no one goes without the help they need.

We hope that everyone is taking the necessary actions to stay healthy and safe. Please take some time to educate yourself on COVID-19 and the best preventative measures. For up-to-date information, visit the CDC website. Please also remember to take a few moments to focus on your emotional and mental well-being. Unplug for a couple of hours a day, take a walk if you can, call a friend – take care of your whole self.

Finally, we want you to know that our commitment to serve is strengthened, not weakened, in the face of adversity. As we receive information and update plans, we promise to continue to stand by our mission to empower our communities. We are here to help you, so please reach out with any questions or concerns. We will get through this together.

Sincerely,

Marco E. Jacome, MA, LPC, CAADC, CEAP
